Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 04 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Showers and winds ease, remaining cold overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
During the evening showers migrate south, becoming more frequent for a time before clearing early in the night. The rest of the night mostly clear and dry, with light winds allowing for a frost to develop for many. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Wednesday:
Further showery weather, brighter than Tuesday but slightly cooler. A mixture of sunny spells, and scattered showers, occasionally heavy. Remaining cold overnight, with another widespread frost likely. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Frequent showers on Thursday, becoming less numerous by Friday. Dry early Saturday before a band of rain and strong winds move in from the southwest.
